DIGESTS OF CURRENT NYC THEATRE REVIEWS

Mary, Mary- Hayes- 3/8. 6 pro- and 1 con- Times- filed on new comedy by Jean Kerr, presented by Roger Stevens, directed by Joseph Anthony with Barbara Bel Geddes, Barry Nelson, Betsy von Furstenberg, Michael Rennie, John Cromwell. Affirmative praise ranged from raves to luke-warm approval of witty comedy, while the single negative labeled comedy a confection like a bit of summer reading. Crist, Herald Tribune (subbing for the author's husband), approved of luscious display of comedy arranged by experts, the only complaint being that gags seem to be inserted when the dialogue runs thin. Chapman, News, greeted the cheerful, tidily wrought and very pleasantly acted romance with the author's skill in making pointed observations about the funny hazards of being human and the smooth, attractive performances. Coleman, Mirror, raved over the sophisticated, fun-filled frolic. Watts, Post, enjoyed combination of wit, grace and charm and all the delightful performances. McClain, Journal American, applauded the hale and hearty hit by one of the world's funniest and richest women, triumph of lines and situations over a threadbare theme. Aston, World Telegram & Sun, also rated Mrs Kerr one of the funniest women writing today and agreed that play will have vast and prankish appeal. Con voter Taubman, Times, felt characters are rarely more than actors reciting amusing lines, that the play followed a neat pattern which gave no reason for complaint if you do not ask humor to stem profoundly from character. Cast and director were okayed by Times man.

13 Daughters-54th St- 3/2. 3 pros-News, Journal American, World Telegram & Sun- and 4 cons- Times, Herald Tribune, Mirror, Post- filed on new musical comedy about Hawaii with book, music and lyrics by Eaton Magoon, Jr, presented by Jack Silverman, staged by Rod Alexander and Billy Matthews with Don Ameche, Monica Boyer and Sylvia Syms. Pro side found large size musical charming and wholesome in an old-fashioned way, while con side found it more Broadway than Hawaii and especially panned the dull book. Most agreed that dances by Rod Alexander, be they NY or Hawaiian were fine. Chapman, News, recommended the charming, unusual and beautifully mounted musical with the most exciting dances of the season. McClain, Journal American, enjoyed the large, lavish old fashioned musical with style and good taste, perfectly adequate story and some charming music, plus explosive dances. Aston, WTS, raved for big, wholesome entertainment for whole family with music that makes sense and a pretty good story. Dissenter Taubman, Times, could find little to like except its ingenious story that becomes oddly and partly disarming. Otherwise he tabbed the music in the spirit of Broadway and not notable, and the performers agreeable. Kerr, Herald Tribune, panned the innocent, old fashioned, helpless evening with good sets, 13 pretty girls, and the incorruptible Don Ameche who never winces at his material. Coleman, Mirror, reported first night audience liked musical but he thought book was pedestrian with too few laughs, the score pleasant and the lyrics serviceable. Watts, Post, attacked clumsy, dull book for overpowering some nice songs with indifferent lyrics. Without exception reviewers applauded beauty and talent of attractive title players including Diana Corto, Gina Viggilione, Isabelle Farrell.

Roots- Mayfair (Hotel Paramount 265 W 46)- 3/6. 4 pros- Times, Mirror, Post, World Telegram & Sun- and 3 cons- Herald Tribune, News, Journal American filed on new British play by Arnold Wesker, presented by Norman Twain, directed by Mark Rydell with Mary Doyle, Katherine Squire, William Hansen. New 299 seat theatre located on site of former Diamond Horseshoe was approved as handsome and comfortable by 3 reviewers- Times, News, WTS. Affirmative side headed by Taubman, Times, who okayed warm and rich play of English farm life, a breath of fresh air in a stale theatrical atmosphere. Altshuler, Mirror, approved of universal play by new author, a grand beginning with moments of warmth and laughter. Watts, Post, noted it was a play with excellent things rather than an excellent play; with a kind of rugged integrity, some fresh and original observation of character and a note of stubborn exultation at the end. Post man okayed Doyle in leading role, but added that she couldn't match Joan Plowright's original London conception in the final scene. Aston, WTS, recommended it for its final exciting 15 minutes and for its excellent cast. Negative side headed by Kerr, Herald Tribune, who placed part of blame on Doyle for not bringing two vital parts of her role together, making it more like a 1930 North Carolina folk play ending in an "Editorial." Davis, News, agreed with colleagues author showed moments of excitement, but play itself wasn't much more than pictures of episodes of farm life. McClain, Journal American, found only the final scene exciting in play that was otherwise aimless and dull.

The Cage and 417- Theatre of Today ( 77-5th Av) 3/5. 2 pros- Times, World Telegram & Sun- and 3 cons- Herald Tribune, Post, Journal American- filed on two short plays by Arthur Vogel and Julian Mayfield, directed by Arthur Reel, presented by Irving Wexler-George Scudder with cast of Howard Wierum Leslie Rivers, Marguerite Davis. Pros found new point of view in interesting plays, while cons panned amateur playwriting and acting. Esterow, Times, applauded both plays for their good performances and points of view, though he did recommend the group turn on the air-conditioning. Morello, WTS, okayed 417 as a delicate, often delightful play, but vetoed The Cage.

Five Posts in the Market Place-Gate ( 162-2nd Av) 3/5. 1 pro-Journal American- and 4 con- Times, Herald Tribune, Post, World Telegram & Sun- filed on new play by Algirdas Landsberg produced by Repertory Company of the Gate Theatre, directed by Sidney Walters with Phil Abbott, Joseph Boley, Barbara Ames. Sole pro voter McClain, Journal American, recommended the promising vitality of the new author with compelling cast contributions. Majority blamed technique of playwright for not properly expressing his ideas, But Gelb, Times, also panned the players and director

Cry of the Raindrop-St Marks (133-2nd Av) 3/7. 1 pro- World Telegram & Sun- and 5 con -Times, Herald Tribune, News, Post, Journal American- filed on new play by Lonny Chapman, presented by Kelsey Marechal- Seymour Litnoff, directed by Robert Paschall with Lou Antonio June Harding, Joan Harvey. Single pro notice was rave from Morello, WTS, who cheered superb play and performances. Con side generally excused players and blamed author for presenting pretentious, poetic bore, lyrical but dull.

GREEN
DEPARTMENT

BWAY REVIVALS URGED... Let the theatre do good old plays if it can't find good new ones, suggests Cole - man, Mirror, as an answer to the current Broadway season, which has been disastrous. Most of the entries have been lightweight, the ticket prices high and the weather awful. Reviewer also urged that all facets of theatre collaborate toward making it possible to produce and sell revivals.

COLUMN TIPS... Broadway angels who lost thousands this season are switching to Off Broadway investments, hears Sullivan, News... New "Off Broadway" theatre will be located in Playboy Club, E 59, next to Sherry Netherland Hotel, reports Farrell, World Telegram & Sun... Gertrude Berg upset about casting of Rosiland Russell in Majority of One film, as she understood producers promised her the role, notes Heimer, Mirror.

REVIEWER'S ROLE... Most important quality of the daily drama reviewer is the ability to write rapidly and lucidly, details McClain, Journal American. He should also have a strong affection for the theatre, more than a casual knowledge and he should always answer the readers' basic question "Is the show worth the price?"

CRITICAL THOUGHTS... Quick demise of The Moon in the Yellow River is another blow to the untenable theory that drama critics dictate the taste of playgoers, and it is also a sad commentary on that taste, sighs Watts, Post... If President Kennedy appoints an administrator with a minor cabinet rank to supervise cultural development in this country, Sobol, Journal American, nominates- Howard Cullman, Robert Dowling or Helen Hayes

DRAMA MAIL BOX... While waiting for the theatre to get worse before it could get better we have lost the habit of playgoing and let the television flood pour over us, complains Herald Tribune reader.

HITS REVISITED... Bye Bye Birdie in its 11th month is a better show than when it opened, comments Mc - Harry, News, who took his 9 year old son to a Sat. matinee. The sets and costumes are laundry fresh and all the teenagers in the show are a delight.

THEATRE BOOK COMMENTS... "Harold Arlen: Happy With the Blues" by Edward Jablonski ( Doubleday $4. 95) received milk okay from Funke, Times, who billed it as an interesting story, but felt it could have been a more dimensional portrait.

THEATRE TV COMMENTS... NBC Omnibus survey of avant garde theatre with William Saroyan and segments of plays by Ionesco, Albee, Beckett and Saroyan drew 3 con and 1 pro from TV critics in NY. Gross, News, thought brief scenes were much too short to judge fairly, while current avant garde long run hits were ignored. Bakal, Herald Tribune, panned program and movement as a pretentious bore. Van Horne, W orld Telegram & Sun, con cluded that message of scraps presented eluded her, while their vulgarity appalled her. Single pro voter Gould, Times, applauded courageous TV program, though he doubted gains from it to current Off Broadway shows.

PROS & CONS BY TMK

13 Daughters is a thoroughly delightful and corny old fashioned musical welcoming the 49th state with a blend of very pleasant music, lively dance numbers and an exceedingly charming cast. The same script, pasted together as it is with used fortune cookie jokes, would have been just awful if not left in the tasteful hands of Don Ameche, Monica Boyer and 13 lovely-talented actress-singer-dancers. The exciting dance numbers and the colorful, swift moving sets add to the quiet fun of an enjoyable, relaxing evening that entertains without insulting. The only item missing is a full-blown finale, and in keeping with tradition it could certainly be added.

Roots is a low-key slice of life realistic English drama presenting in extra graphic detail the shallowness of modern British farm-life and the awakening of at least one member. That there is more to this play than is currently presented is evident in the masterful portraits by the two British cast members, William Hansen and Mary Mercier. They have a sharpness lacking in the American cast members, all too intent on accent, stance and costumes to present anything more than very depressing, boring characters.

Saddest rumor in years, which has yet to be denied, is last week's column tip that all of the City Investing Co theatres on W 45 and W 46 are up for sale. This week the Miller Theatre announced that an Italian film will be booked in April ousting its current theatre tenant, Under the Yum Yum Tree. Neither item will hardly make anyone rush into the theatre construction industry in NYC. At the same time the League of NY theatres and the various union heads are quietly preparing for a gigantic war on labor contracts which would only make things worse. Instead of spending valuable time and energy on such cold war activities, both sides should get together fast for a real discussion of how theatre production costs and theatre prices got so high. Unless they do, wage contract battles may be academic.

Imaginative repertory plan of Circle in the Square which will present two full casts in two different productions in one theatre is a fascinating attempt to solve some of Off Broadways problems. A major reason why Ted Mann and Jose Quintero have made the Circle the only theatre group ever to remain in business Off Broadway for ten years is a solid combination of talent, good taste and their own theatre building. More such production teams owning their playhouses and/or more theatres owned by Circle in the Square would increase the number of worthwhile shows presented Off Broadway.

The problem of out-of-context quote ads on the drama pages is one that could be solved overnight if the daily papers were the least bit interested. While the Times does check quotes from its own critics in theatre ads, they do not bother to check how misleading other quotes might be. It would only take a matter of minutes to check the quotes used against the actual reviews. Several rejections by the ad department of potential ads would clear up the situation, minus legal action.

Taubman, Times, viewed The Skin of Our Teeth and The Glass Menagerie earlier in the week in Washington, D. C. National Theatre and gave productions mild approval. As for the choice of plays he noted that they were safe and sane rather than novel and adventurous. Though leading cast members were fine Times man did not think Wilder production had jelled as yet. Helen Hayes in the Williams' play deploys vast technical skill but lacks the hard intensity and mysterious poetry evoked by the late Laurette Taylor in the famed role. All will improve with playing, critic concluded.
